

Service Technician/Product Support Role

Due to strong growth, Hundegger Australasia Pty Ltd currently has an exciting opportunity available for a New Zealand based Service Technician to complement our Australian based Service and Spare Parts Department.

Are you a reliable, self-motivated individual that takes pride in your work, wants to be an expert in your field and loves a challenge? Then this may be the career prospect you have been waiting for. The opportunity to take over an existing Service regime with an established and growing customer base in New Zealand and with your technical and customer skills, develop this under supervision into an industry leading Product Support role.

Hundegger Australasia is the leader in industrial automated woodworking machinery for the Frame and Truss and Engineered Wood Products sector and currently has an exciting opportunity available for a New Zealand based Field Service Technician to join our existing extensive Service Network. Some travel to Australia is likely and training opportunities in Germany possible in due course.

For the right candidate, this position offers exciting insight into all aspects of the service industry and particular roles and duties will include:

- Preventative maintenance servicing
- Technical support assistance
- Fault-finding
- Installation work
- Local, National and some International travel

The applicant must possess the following:

- Electrical aptitude
- Mechanical aptitude
- High level understanding of machinery axis and control systems
- High level of PC literacy
- Ability to work un-supervised and within time constraints
- Excellent communication skills and high level of customer rapport
- Willingness to travel
- Willingness to learn
- Current New Zealand driver's license
- New Zealand residency
- Electrical and engineering qualification and experience is preferred

Initial training will be provided in Australia and New Zealand for the successful candidate.

Expressions of interest are welcomed and may be forwarded alongside a Curriculum Vitae to enquiries@hundegger.com.au